

Columbia Place Mall is one of South Carolina's largest shopping malls and largest enclosed mall in the Columbia metro area. The mall is over 1 million square feet and is anchored by Sears, Macy's, and Burlington Coat Factory. It's home to the only Macy's location in more than a 50 mile radius, which helps solidify the Mall's presence and position in the market. In addition, Columbia Place Mall has several outparcels that are occupied by Marshall's, McDonald's, Virginia College, Party City.

Columbia Place Mall is located predominantly in middle-income residential area and is strategically located near Fort Jackson's largest and most active US Army Basic Combat Training Center, University of South Carolina, and the metro-center of Columbia, SC.
